COURSE NAME: Simplifying Rotary Endodontics For Predictable Success

COURSE FACULTY: Dr. Jayshree Hegde Anil

COURSE HIGHLIGHTS:

One of the major innovations in endodontics that has greatly influenced the canal preparations is the development of rotary nickel titanium.

Over the years technological improvements in designs, metallurgy and kinematics has made canal preparation easier, faster and safer.

Yet one of the major concerns during preparation is the instrument breakage which occurs without any warning especially in curved canals.

Choosing the right instrumentation formula to cruise through the curvatures without instrument separation is an art that needs to be mastered.

This lecture will provide insights and clinical evidence on how to efficiently curved canals can be preparer without any iatrogenic errors.
